

fighting hunger, tackling food waste

FareShare gets food from farmers, makers, supermarkets and cafes...

Kellogg's

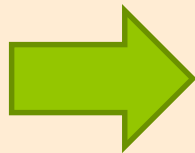

...and stores it in its big warehouse...

...where it is sorted by a team of volunteers...

...then delivered in our vans to local charities

who make it into delicious meals

for thousands of people every week

Why does FareShare get all this food?

- Too big
- Too small
- Too strange

Nearly out of date

Wrong
label or barcode

or too many

Who gets all this food?

We give the food to local charities who take care of people who are hungry or need some extra help.

Meals and food bags

What can I do to help?

Try not to waste your food.

Don't judge me because I am different.
Wonky is wonderful!
